

How to use Zelle to send the tuition to MT Learning Center (official name: Multiple Inductive Thinking, Director name: Lung Juang)

1. Log on your bank Zelle service. Select "Send money"
2. Select "Add a contact" or "Select a recipient"
3. Enter the email address (all lower cases is fine): office@mtLearningCenter.com. Then make one of the following two steps (Depends on your bank settings)
 - a. Enter "MT Learning Center" or "Multiple Inductive Thinking" as the first name, or
 - b.
4. Click "Save" or "Continue," you may send money now. Make sure you put the students' names and the class codes in the MEMO field.
5. Sometimes the bank will send a text to your email or cell phone to confirm, you will need to verify it.

The image displays two screenshots from the Wells Fargo mobile app. The left screenshot, taken at 1:08, shows the 'Select Recipient' screen. It features a search bar with the placeholder text 'Search name, phone, or email' and a plus sign icon. Below the search bar, there is a large 'Add a recipient' section with instructions: 'To add a recipient, choose the "+" button above, or use the Access Contacts button below to add a recipient from your phone contacts.' At the bottom of this section is a grey button labeled 'Access Contacts'. The right screenshot, taken at 1:11, shows the 'Add Recipient' screen. It includes a back arrow, a 'Cancel' button, and the text 'Only use Zelle® to pay people you know.' There are two tabs: 'Email or mobile' (selected) and 'Account'. The 'Email or mobile' tab has a text input field containing 'Office@mtlearningcenter.com'. Below this, it says 'Mobile numbers require recipient's consent.' There is a section for 'Recipient's name' with a link 'Sending money to a business?' and a text input field containing 'Mt learning center'. Below that is a 'Last name' input field. A summary section states: 'Mt learning center will be added as a new recipient. To receive money, they must register Office@mtlearningcenter.com with Zelle.' A disclaimer follows: 'By adding the recipient, you agree to receive text messages about your Zelle® activity. Message and data rates may apply. Text STOP to 93729 to opt out.' At the bottom, there are two buttons: a grey 'Access Contacts' button and a blue 'Continue' button.
